DOCTOR RIGHT'S CELEBRATED REJUVENATING ELIXIR

Prepared on the strictest Pharmaceutical principles by one of the ablest Chemists of the age. THIS is altogether a new medicine, the result of modern discoveries in the vegetable kingden, being an entirely new and abstract method of cure, irrespective of all the old and worn out systems published by accomplished quacks to the suffering. Dr. Wright, well knowing the deception practiced upon the uninitiated, felt it his duty at once to have this Elixir tested by the whole Medical Faculty, who, without even one dissenting roice, have given in their adherence to its perfect and undivided control over the whole physical man when his frame has been reduced, and when all other medicines known to the Pharmaco pais have been tried in vain. Long thou the years of patient investigation, and a nil desperandum determination have rowned the Doctor's efforts, and he now offers the Elixir to suffering humanity as the only thing that can cure the following tal and Physical Depression, ecility,

Determination of Blood to the Head,
Confused Ideas,
Hysteria,
General Irritability,

tlessness and Sleeplessness at Night, ence of Muscular Bilicie Loss of Appetits, Disorganization of the Cryans of Generation, Palpitation of the Heart, And, in fact, all the concomitants of a nervous and debilitate As a Stimulant, It is quite different from alcoholic preparations. It is not sub-ject to reactions in any shape; it continues to exert its influence gradually and efficiently, as long as the least necessity exists for its presence.

As a Female Medicine, It is equally powerful and effective, and restores the equilibrium sooner and safer than all the other medicines which for years have flooded the market, and which are only injurious, in place of assisting or renovating the constitution for a very good rea son, too, that they are only made from the effusions of minds gnorant of the Medical profession altogether. No Minerals!

Dr. Wright thinks it well to stake his professional character on the fact, that no minerals whatever form the least component parts of the ingredients of his Rejuvenating Elixir—well know ing what ruln has been entailed on the community by opium and Generally, to the debilitated, Dr. Wright would say, Neve despair. No matter how worn down you may be, no matter how weak you are—no matter what the cause may have been—forsake at once whatever has led you to depart from Hygienic principles

OUR WAR FOR INDEPENDENCE. vresistible Power of Cotton-Letters of Marque and Who will Take Them. We make the following extracts from Mr. Rus-

ELL's letter to the London Times, written from Montgomery on the 8th of May: I now but repeat the sentiments and expectations of those around me. They believe in the irresistible power of cotton in the natural alliance between manufacturing England and France and the cotton roducing slave States, in the force of their simple tariff, and in the interests which arise out of a sys-tem of free trade, which, however, by a rigorous legislation, they will interdict to their neighbors in people in the future as they have, or pretend to have, in their desting.

Listen to their programme;

It is intended to buy up all the cotton crop which can be brought into the market at an average price, and to give bonds of the Confederate States for the amount, these bonds being, as we know, secured by the export duty on cutton. The Government, with this cutton crop in its own hands, will use it as a formidable machine of war, for cutton can do agent with a Certificate showing the number of men and ton nage of freight to transported.

As we respected the blockade of the ficet of the King of Naples, as shall we respected the blockade of the Southern ports by the fleets of the North; and as we respected the belligerent rights of the conqueror of Palermo, who was really at that moment of the Character of the Southern ports by the fleets of the North; and as we respected the belligerent rights of the conqueror of Palermo, who was really at that moment of the Character of the King of Naples, as shall we respected the belligerent rights of the conqueror of Palermo, who was really at that moment of the Character of the King of Naples, as we respected the blockade of the Southern ports by the fleets of the North; and any organization of property.

This proposition will not apply to individuals, but is confined to the character of the Charact need to ruin, it is said, and the North to the direct | most certainly respect the belligerent rights of elevduced to ruin, it is said, and the North to the direst distress. If Manchester can get cotton and Lovell cannot, there are good times coming for the mill owners. The planters have agreed among themselves to hold over one-half of their cotton crop for their own purposes and for the culture of their fields, and to sell the other to the government. For each bale of cotton, as I hear, a bond will be issued on the fair average price of cotton in the market, and this case does not fall within the rule. The purchasers acted fairly, openly, and without any previous connection with the estate or knowledge of the amount of complainant's debt, and however they proclaim the abolition of alavery, throughout the Union, they will have all our sentiment on their side. But we have heard no whitsper of this hitherto. In other matters we have fair average price of cotton in the market, and this bond must be taken at par as a circulating medium within the limits of the slave States. This forced circulation will be secured by the act of the Legislature. The bonds will bear interest at ten per cent., and they will be issued on the faith and security of the proceeds of the duty of one eighth of a to our neutral rights, and relaxing them to the detricent on every pound of cotton exported. to bonds or give security that they will not carry their cargoes to Northern ports, or let it resen Northern markets to their knowledge. The government will sell the cotton for cash to the foreign buyers, and will thus raise funds amply sufficient, they concend, for all purposes. I make these bare statements, and I leave to poitical economists the discussion of the question which may and will arise out of the acts of the Government of the Confederate States. The South-that the South must be brought into submission to the Lincoln Government, at whatever cost of men or money. There was but httle talk of politics, alliance with the North they will save upwards of and the $47,000,000, or nearly £10,000,000 sterling annually. The estimated value of the annual cotton crop is $200,000,000. On this the North formerly made at least $10,000,000 by advances, interest and exchanges, which in all came to fully five per cent on ready glutted, and the West, cut off from the Southchanges, which in all came to fully five per cent on the whole of the crop. Again, the tariff to raise revenues sufficient for the maintenance of the Government of the Southern Confederacy is far less than that which is required by the Government of the United States. The Confederate States propose to have a tariff which will be about 12 per cent on imports which will yeld $25,000,000. The Northern tariff is 30 per cent, and, as the South took from the North $70,000,000 worth of manufactured goods.

The depreciation of real estate in New York is North $70,000,000 worth of manufactured goods and produce, they contributed, they assert to the maintenance of the North to the extent of the dif-

The Southerners are firmly convinced that they I less and go a begging at less than a third of the rents they readily drew a twelvemonth ago.

In the midst of this wide-spread ruin of the The Southerners are firmly convinced that they have "kept the North going" by the prices they have paid for the protected articles of their manu facture, and they hold out to Sheffield, to Manchester, to Leeds, to Wolverhampton, to Dudley, to Paris, to Lyons, to Bordeaux, to all the centres of English manufacturing life, as of French taste and luxury, the tempting baits of new and eager and hungry markets. If their facts and statistics are accurate there can be no doubt of the justice of the deductions on many points; but they can scarcely be correct in assuming that they will bring the United States to destruction by cutting off from Lowell the ly are noticeable for their stalwart appearance, and 600,600 bales of cotton which she usually consumes. for the excellence and completeness of their organ-

One great fact, however, is unquestionable—the fovernment has in its hands the souls, the wealth and he hearts of the people. They will give anything-money labor, life itself-to earry out their theories. "Sir," said an ex Governor of this State to me to day, "Sooner than submit to the North, we will all become subjects to Great Britain again." The same become subjects to Great Britain again. The same gentleman is one of many who have given to the Government a large portion of their cotton crop on the famous 7th Regiment are "fit only to wait upon the hysterical women of New York." Government a large portion of their cotton crop every year as a free will offering. In his instance his gift is one of 500 bales of cotton, or £5000 per annum, and the papers teem with accounts of similar 'patriotism' and devotion.

The ladies are all making sandbags, cartridges and uniforms, and, if possible, they are more fierce than the men. The time for mediation is past, if it ever were at hand or present at all, and is scarcely possible now to prevent the processes of phiebotomization which are supposed to secure peace and lar "patriotism" and devotion.

The newspapers contain the text of the declaration of the state of war on the part of President Davis, and of the issue of letters of marque and reprisal, &c. The object of this war measure is to depreciate the value of the shipping of the North, and to prevent the vessels of the United States commercial marine getting cargoes aboard. The Gov erament here conceive they have a right to demand from foreign nations that their flag shall be recognized, and their law officers declare the Confederate States will maintain their right to issue letters a belligerent power, and it was respected, they say, by the courts of law in the United States in the case of the South American republics before any formal recognition of their governments or of their inde-pendence was made by any power. We have not only done these state acts, but we have aided them with the full force of our public opinion. Nothing would be more unpopular in England at this moment than any interference with this quarrel.

A sovereign democracy of federal republics punishing and conquering a rebel democracy of confederate republics, may appear strange to the ears of students of public law; but we have it before us as a fact, and as a fact we must deal with it. The words "rebellion" and "loyalty," when used to indigent their debt on the land and would have amount of their debt on the land and would have could be present and bid it off, or otherwise would get Mr. Alexander the Clerk and Master to put the smount of their debt and cost upon it," and praying that the sale might be set aside and the biddings opened.

At the bidling of the Lincoln Government, the starving scum of the great cities are enlisting by tens of thou sands, and are armed, equipped and despatched to the border with surprising rapidity. The material of these city battalions is the poorest that can be imagined. Not so, however, with the regiments and brigades from the interior, which, in many instan-ces, are composed of men who would do credit to any army. The Rhode Island Regiment, particularization. On the whole, our informant is of the opinion that our enemies are, to a certain extent, underrated by public opinion throughout the South.

There are signs of discontent among the foreign elements in New York, especially the Germans. A leading German paper has roundly declared that the military power of the North rests upon the arms Everything in the march of events at the North betokens the early recognitions of the fact that the non slaveholding States can cohere, only by catab lishing do jure, that which already exists among them de facto—a consolidated, centralized, "strong government, differing from the military despotism (if it differ at all) only in the name.—Charleston

A Mistake of Mr. Russell About South Carolina.

In his letter to the London Times, written at Charleston, on the 30th of April, Mr. Russett. Nothing I could say can be worth one fact which has forced itself upon my mind in reference to the sentiments which prevail among the gentlemen of this State. I have been among them for several days. I have visited their plantations, I have conversed with them freely and fully, and I have entered with them freely and graceful interconverse. loved that frank, courteous and graceful intercourse which constitutes an irresistible charm of their society. From all quarters has come to my ears the courts of law in the Canada in the South American republics before any formal cognition of their governments or of their independence was made by any power. The refusal to introduce was made by any power. The refusal to introduce the rights of beligerents in the right of sarch will be taken as an act of war, and as a roof of alliance with the enemy—that is, the Government of the United States. It need hardly be beserved that the protection of British interests femands that an efficient squadron of vessels be at once sent to the American waters in the face of such contingencies as will inevitably arise.

But it may be asked, who will take these letters of marqe? Where is the government of Montgome-of marqe? Where is the government of Montgome-of marqe? With the pride of having achieved their independence (of England) is mingled in the South Carolinians' hearts a strange regret at the result and consequences, and many are they who "would go back (to England) morrow if they could." The Charleston Mercury says that Mr. Russell's statement is erroneous. The Mercury does not doubt Mr. Russen,'s statement that he found one or more individuals here who told him, "If he could ourselves? Why are we to be scolded, and threatened, and warped? If England persists that State, as elsewhere, and contends that it has in regarding the privateers of the South as merely met with such at the North and in the Southwest.

At other times we should laugh outright at it, but our friends are now in difficulties.

So far as we can judge at present, it is we only who have causes of complaint, if we chose to urge them. All the Northern newspapers have been trumpeting forth two facts, which, if true, are certainly not creditable to our professions of neutrality. It is said that the Canadiaus have given a regiment to the Northern army of invasion, and that New York has supplied a rifle corps of English. We was not been to the Northern army of invasion, and that New York has supplied a rifle corps of English.
